PROMOTION PENDING

10th ABW commander nominated for 0-7 promotion. Page 4

FREE FALLING

Cadet skydiver leaps toward success. Page 6

BETWEEN THE PIPES

Air Force sweeps Niagara in 4-3 overtime win. Page 12

Academy SPINIT

In the 'Spirit' of the Springs

Colorado Springs Mayor Steve Bach presents Cadet 1st Class Rebecca Esselstein with the Spirit of the Springs Award at the Staff Tower Wednesday. The award recognizes her military, academic and athletic achievements at the Academy. Esselstein was recently selected for a Rhodes scholarship and is one of 38 Academy cadets to receive the Spirit of the Springs award

JASON GUTIERREZ

Cadet recieves award for academic, athletic achievements

By Airman 1st Class Rachel Hammes U.S. Air Force Academy Public Affairs

When Rebecca Esselstein first entered the Air Force Academy, she had no idea in four years' time she would be standing in the Staff tower of Mitchell Hall, being honored by the mayor of Colorado Springs for bringing pride to the community.

Despite her lack of psychic ability, Cadet 1st Class Esselstein received the Spirit of the Springs award in front of a sea of peers Wednesday.

The award honored Esselstein, a native of Dayton, Ohio, for being named a Rhodes

See Spirit Award Page 10

Commandant of Cadets reveals 2015 vector

By Airman 1st Class Rachel Hammes U.S. Air Force Academy Public Affairs

Commandant of Cadets Brig. Gen. Stephen Williams held a Commandant's Call detailing his vector, the yearly statement of subjects he wants cadets to focus on for the next semester going forward, at Arnold Hall Jan. 5.

The Commandant's Vector focused on accountability, relevant training, leadership and taking ownership of the Academy's image through action.

"I want the rest of the world to see you the way I see you," he said to cadets.

Williams said he wanted to make his vector personal.

"Rather than just handing cadets a memo, I wanted to articulate it in person," he said. "I spoke after Academy Superintendent Lt. Gen. Michelle D. Johnson held her Superintendent's Call for the Classes of '15 and '16 to reinforce the message specifically to each class."

While Williams addressed each class regarding his concerns and expectations, his vector remains the same for all cadets.

"I broke down my vector using the Air Force Core Values: integrity first, service before self and excellence in all we do, to tie each core value to our day-to-day lives," he said. "The more you can link it, the more you'll understand why you do it."

The Commandant's Vector typically focuses on specific issues, such as sexual assault or community service, but William's vector was intentionally broad.

Talking about integrity, he specifically tied it to respect. "We can do

See Vector Page 10

The quiet energy revolution

By Deborah Lee James Secretary of the Air Force

Modern catch phrases like "energy security" and "energy independence" have had a renewed urgency in recent years as Americans felt the pinch of high oil prices and considered the benefits and risks of the domestic boom in natural gas and oil production.

But here at the Air Force, energy's role in national security has always been top of mind, since without energy, we cannot fly planes, transport troops or run bases.

In that way, there's been a quiet revolution at Air Force installations around the world.

The reason for this focus on energy is simple. In the event of natural or man-made catastrophe, we want to guarantee our planes can fly and our installations can operate in the face of disruptions in energy supplies.

Now, more than ever, energy is a critical means to maintain our strategic advantage.

Put another way, energy is central to readiness. The Air Force has developed four priorities in a Strategic Energy Plan: improve our resiliency; reduce our demand; make sure we have an assured supply; and foster an energy-aware culture. This approach improves our ability to manage energy needs in a way that keeps our troops ready. By executing this strategy, we realize a secondary benefit of saving money, which we can redirect into training, equipment and other priorities.

As we improve resiliency, diversity of fuel source gives us the flexibility to bounce back if energy supplies are disrupted. With this in mind, we are improving resiliency at our bases through a variety of means, to include windmills at Joint Base Cape Cod in Massachusetts, reducing dependence on the commercial electrical grid.

Reducing energy demand on our bases means that every kilowatt of power we avoid using is one we do not need to replace in the case of supply disruption. We are reducing energy demand using new technology and new methods. We are developing technology through research, development, testing and evaluation, as with the Adaptive Engine Technology Development initiative. In essence, we are working with government and business partners to build a new kind of jet engine that could use as much as 25 percent less fuel and provide 10 percent more thrust than today's systems. This means our aircraft will fly farther on less fuel. You can imagine the net savings to the Air Force — the government's largest user of fuel — if we can make this project work.

Deborah Lee James

We know that when our major commands review and update their mission planning to make energy a consideration, they are able to increase effectiveness. Air Mobility Command, which flies our aerial refueling tankers and cargo planes, did this and increased by more than 9 percent the distance it can transport a ton of cargo on a gallon of fuel.

We also reduce demand by training more efficiently. At Altus Air Force Base in Oklahoma, the 97th Air Mobility Wing trimmed its air drop and air refueling training programs, using only the closest tracks and most efficient flight routes, to save $30 million per year. That, from two initiatives.

All of these efforts to improve resiliency and reduce demand also ensure a supply of energy when we need it, where we need it.

These innovations, improvements and plans happen because we are now fostering an energy-aware culture. We know from decades of experience that airmen are the best source of new methods for continuing the energy revolution. Many of our best ideas came from the rank and file, including the restoration of a historic World War II-era hangar at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, now a paragon of energy-saving design and world-class energy saving measures. Another is a holistic energy plan instituted at Royal Air Force Mildenhall, England. Airmen deserve the lion's share of the credit.

A final thought. The Air Force is not taking this approach because it's politically attractive or expedient. We're doing it for the same reason we do everything — to better complete our mission.

It's about family

By Col. Susan Moran 21st Medical Group commander

My first assignment after training took me far away from my biological family. Much to the dismay of the new grandparents, my husband and I moved to Japan after our first child was born.

In Okinawa, we quickly met our new Air Force family. These coworkers, neighbors and chapel friends, filled our lives with joy. Such fun we had exploring the island, scuba diving, traveling to Singapore, beach camping (in the pouring rain), prepping for typhoon parties and watching our babies grow up together.

Holidays were always celebrated with a big potluck. We knew we were lucky to have this family's support, but I didn't realize the full extent until one night at our hospital.

As a pediatrician, I cared for a child dying of a rare incurable infection. In the days before, the medical team had tried everything to save her. While the medics exhausted option after option, the girl's Air Force family poured out their hearts to her parents and siblings. Her Air Force family filled the waiting room, with beverages, food, a prayer vigil, endless hugs and a shoulder to cry on. Every detail at the house with the siblings had been coordinated so the parents could focus on their beautiful daughter in her last days. During their darkest moments, this family was surrounded by the love of their Air Force family.

Sixteen years later, I recalled these memories as I assumed squadron command. I had three simple goals, one of which was that our squadron would be a true Air Force family. I was aware of the unit's long history of poor morale and that this "Air Force family" mindset would be challenging. Over time I watched the unit come together, care for each other and have fun. Then one morning, we received horrible news — one of our deployed NCOs had been critically wounded in an attack on her final convoy before she was slated to fly home.

One of our deployed captains rushed to her side at the forward operating base, holding her hand while the surgeons and nurses worked to stabilize her until the transporting aircraft arrived.

From Bagram to Landstuhl to the aerovac crew to Walter Reed, our team reached out to former coworkers to ensure our staff sergeant's ride home was as comfortable as possible. Along with to providing excellent medical care, these Air Force family members stepped in to do little things — washing and braiding her hair, relaying mom's words of support to ease the intense pain and ensuring she was never alone on her journey home.

While these two situations etched in my mind that the Air Force family is priceless, it doesn't have to take a terrible event to show us how lucky we are.

Being part of the Air Force family takes some effort. To be successful, there are "family rules" to live by. You may recognize some of these rules from your own home.

Live by the Air Force Core Values, integrity first, service before self, and excellence in all we do. Always tell the truth. Do your chores. Share, don't whine. Think of others before yourself. Keep your promises. Listen to your supervisors.

Create a culture of respect and dignity. Listen before you speak Say please and thank you. Treat others how you want to be treated. Use kind words. Wait your turn. Be the first to say I'm sorry. Always be grateful. Embrace the Adventure.

Be proud and know you are an important part of an amazing Air Force family. Down the road, this family will be by your side long after you hang up the uniform.

ACADEMY SPIRIT

To responsibly inform and educate the Academy community and the public about the Air Force Academy

Lt. Gen. Michelle D. Johnson —
Academy Superintendent
Lt. Col. Brus E. Vidal —
Director of Public Affairs
Ray Bowden — Editor
Don Branum — Staff Writer
Amber Baillie — Staff Writer
Airman 1st Class Rachel Hammes —
Staff writer
Carol Lawrence — Graphic Designer

The Academy Spirit is published by The Gazette, a private firm in no way connected with the U.S. Air Force, under exclusive written contract with the U.S. Air Force Academy. This civilian enterprise Air Force newspaper is an authorized publication for members of the U.S. military services. Contents of the Academy Spirit are not necessarily the official views of, or endorsed by, the Department of Defense or the Department of the Air Force.

The appearance of advertising in this publication, including inserts or supplements, does not constitute endorsement by the Department of Defense, the Department of the Air Force, or The Gazette, of the products or services advertised. Everything advertised in this publication shall be made available for purchase, use or patronage without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, marital status, physical handicap, political affiliation or any other non merit factor of the purchaser, user or patron. The printer reserves the right to reject any advertisements.

Editorial content is edited, prepared and provided by the U.S. Air Force Academy Directorate of Public Affairs. The editor reserves the right to edit articles to conform to Air Force policy and Associated Press style. All photos are U.S. Air Force photos unless otherwise indicated.

SUBMISSIONS

Send submissions to: usafa.pai@usafa.af.mil. Deadline for free classified ads on a space-available basis is noon every Tuesday for that week's publication date. Paid classified publishing is accepted by the publisher at 719-444-7355. For display advertising, please contact Marie Rush at 719-476-4818.

Deadline for all stories is noon Friday, one week prior to the desired publication date. Refer questions to the Academy Spirit editor at 333-7657.

The Academy Spirit also accepts story submissions by fax at 333-4094 or by email: pa.newspaper@usafa.af.mil.

USAFA CARES

National Suicide Prevention 800-273-8255 Mental Health -Active Duty, Dependents 719-333-5177 Equal Opportunity 719-333-4258 Peak Performance Center 719-333-2107 Employee Assistance Program 719-333-4364 Chaplains Cadets 719-333-2636 Non-cadet 719-333-3300 Sexual Assault Response Staff 719-333-7272 Military Family Life Consultant Adult:719-377-1990 Child: 719-651-3759

SAPR summit tackles tough issues

Air Force News Service

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Top Air Force leaders kicked off a Sexual Assault Prevention and Response summit Monday at Joint Base Andrews, Maryland.

The five-day summit focused combing sexual assault, and taking care of victims. About 150 Airmen attended.

"I think the conference is an important step as we look to permanently shift the Air Force culture to one which embraces and emphasizes persistent focus at all times on dignity, respect and inclusiveness for all of our Airmen," Secretary of the Air Force Deborah Lee James said. "By the end of the week, we will all have a better understanding of sexual assault prevention and with your help, we can look at ways to operationalize prevention policy and tactics."

Air Force Vice Chief of Staff Gen. Larry Spencer encouraged Airmen to be candid in their discussions and breakout sessions.

"If we don't talk about this, we can't fix it," Spencer said. "It's not an easy subject to talk about, but we need to get over that. We can't fix this without each of you."

To foster a climate of honest discussion, attendees wore civilian attire and addressed each other by first and last name.

"Overall I think wearing civilian clothes is a great idea, it helps you feel more free to speak up and give your opinion," said Tech. Sgt. Jason Jones, the U.S. Air Force Academy NCO in charge of basic cadet training.

Jones said he took the challenge from the secretary and vice chief seriously.

SCOTT ASH

Secretary of the Air Force Deborah Lee James speaks at the Air Force Sexual Assault Prevention and Response summit Jan. 12 at Joint Base Andrews, Md.

"I'm excited about this conference," Jones said. "We'll be able to take the information we learn and disperse it back to all of our units and squadrons across the globe."

With strong participation by Airmen in attendance, and backing from senior leaders, James' goal is to accelerate progress and drive the number of sexual assaults to zero.

The linchpin to the conference is open communication, respect and trust for one another, Spencer explained.

"We go to war together," he said. "We have to trust each other to be a successful organization."

Assistance fund campaign begins in February

By Debbie Gildea

Air Force Personnel Center Public Affairs

JOINT BASE SAN ANTONIO-RANDOLPH, Texas (AFNS) — The annual Air Force Assistance Fund campaign kicks off Feb. 2 worldwide, officials announced Monday.

The campaign, in its 42nd year, will be conducted for sixweek periods through May 1, said Bill D'Avanzo, the Air Force voting action officer and fundraising chief. Most Air Force bases begin and end their campaigns during three designated periods: Feb. 2 - March 13, March 2 - April 10, March 23 - May 1.

"For more than four decades, the AFAF has been used to help Airmen, whether affected by natural disasters, experiencing personal hardship, recovering from injury or illness, or making difficult life choices due to age and other circumstances," D'Avanzo said. "We are family, and the fund exists to help our family members get through difficult times."

Contributions are tax deductible and support four charities:
• The Air Force Aid Society provides Airmen and their families with emergency assistance.

• The Air Force Enlisted Village supports Teresa Village in Fort Walton Beach, Fla., and the Bob Hope Village in Shalimar, Fla. The fund provides financial assistance to retired enlisted members' widows and widowers 55 and older.

• The Air Force Villages Charitable Foundation supports independent and assisted living needs for retired officers and their spouses in San Antonio.

• The General and Mrs. Curtis E. LeMay Foundationprovides rent and financial assistance to widows and widowers of officer and enlisted retirees.

For more information visit www.afassistancefund.org.

TRANSFER YOUR CREDIT CARD BALANCE AND SAVE BIG.

Enjoy a special 2.99% intro APR on balance transfers for a year. After that, a variable rate between 7.99% APR and 18% APR applies. You'll pay off your credit card quicker and save money.

> Pay no balance transfer fees

Choose the card that benefits you

> Offer available for new and existing cardholders¹

Transfer your balance now—this offer expires Feb. 28, 2015!

© 2014 Navy Federal NFCU 13190_col (12-14)

ARMY MARINE CORPS NAVY AIR FORCE COAST GUARD DoD VISIT US AT:

1139 Space Center Drive, Colorado Springs, CO The Markets at Mesa Ridge, 6916 Mesa Ridge Parkway, Fountain, CO

navyfederal.org 1.888.842.6328

Federally insured by NCUA. 'Balance transfer offer: If you transfer a balance with this offer, interest will be charged on purchases made with your credit card unless your purchases have a 0% APR, or you pay the entire balance (including any transferred balances) in full each month by the payment due date. Offer valid for balances transferred from other card-issuer accounts requested during January and February 2015. No reward points or cash back on balance transfers. Navy Federal reserves the right to refuse duplicate account transfers. Offer excludes Navy Federal Business credit cards and Home EquityLine Platinum credit cards. Maximum total transfer amount is limited to your approved credit line and cannot exceed $30,000. Balance transfers using convenience checks are excluded from this offer. If you transfer a balance to an existing Navy Federal credit card, you will receive a 2.99% APR on the balance transferred for 12 months. After that, your standard variable purchase APR will apply to any balance remaining. You may transfer a balance to an existing Navy Federal credit card by logging into your account online, calling 1-888-842-6328, or visiting a branch office. 'Rates are variable and range from 7.99% APR to 18% APR based on product type and applicant's creditworthiness. ATM cash advance fees: None if performed at a Navy Federal branch or ATM. Otherwise, $0.50 per domestic transaction or $1.00 per overseas transaction. Foreign transaction fees: 0.80% of transaction amount if in U.S. dollars,

1% of transaction amount if must convert to U.S. dollars. Foreign transaction fees do not apply to Visa Signature* Flagship Rewards and GO REWARDS*. $49 annual fee for Visa Signature Flagship Rewards

ACADEMY SPIRIT

10th ABW commander nominated for brig. gen. promotion

MIKE KAPLAN

Col. Stacey Hawkins, the 10th Air Base Wing commander, has been nominated for promotion to brigadier general by the president.

By Ray Bowden

U.S. Air Force Academy Public Affairs

Col. Stacey Hawkins, the 10th Air Base Wing commander, was one of 30 Air Force officers nominated by the president Jan. 9 for promotion to brigadier general.

Congressional approval for Hawkins and the other nominees is slated to occur later this year.

Hawkins leads approximately 3,000 military and civilian personnel who provide security, civil engineering, communications, logistics, finance and other capabilities, to support Academy cadets. He also manages the 10th ABW's $150 million budget.

"It's very humbling to be nominated for promotion and I look forward to continued service as an Airman in the U.S. Air Force." Hawkins said. "I am grateful to my family, incredible mentors, and the amazing Airmen I have the privilege to serve with every day."

Hawkins graduated from the Academy in 1991 with a Bachelor of Science degree.

"Congratulations to Colonel Hawkins, his wife, Natalie, and their boys, Trey and Ian," said Academy Superintendent Lt. Gen. Michelle D. Johnson. "As the 10th ABW commander, we all know how his great leadership has impacted our Air Force's Academy. This is another step toward greater things to come and I wish him the very best."

Visit www.usafa.af.mil/information/biographies for more infor-

Air Force names boat after Academy grad KIA

By Capt. Nicholas Mercurio 1st Combat Camera Squadron

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AFNS) —

A single-lane road snakes its way through the knot of North Carolina pines, guarding the shoreline at the Military Ocean Terminal Sunny Point. It runs parallel to a bundle of railroad tracks whose tributaries occasionally splice across the road and curve out of view. The road arcs gently to the right as the closeness of the trees recedes and gives way to the wide-open expanse of the Cape Fear River surrounding the central pier. A large container ship looms suddenly ahead, riding high and still on the water for lack of cargo and displaying a freshly-painted name on her bow.

"David was very determined as a boy," Jeannie Lyon said. It is the morning of Aug. 11, 2014, the day she would see the ship that bears her son's name for the first time. "If he got it in his mind to do something, there was no way he wasn't going to

Her son, Capt. David I. Lyon, was killed on Dec. 27, 2013, when a vehicle borne improvised explosive device struck his convoy in Afghani-

A boy who stayed late after football and basketball games to mop the locker room floor, David grew into a man who fulfilled his dream of graduating from the Air Force Academy.

Mrs. Lyon felt exhilarated on May 28, 2008, as she watched her son collect his diploma and walk across the stage to "high-five" former President George W. Bush. She confided what the president told David while shaking his hand. "He said to him, 'I want you to go home. I want you to be a leader, and I want you to make a difference in this world," she said.

David took those words to heart and strove to meet that challenge every day. "He was a true patriot," said Robert Lyon, David's father. "He loved his country."

While he made a difference to many, David had the most lasting and profound impact on his wife of five years and fellow Academy graduate, Capt. Dana Lyon. "He was the best thing to ever happen to my world," she said.

Although they were recruited by the Academy to play different sports, both eventually found their way to the track and field team, and to each other. "He was a strong leader and a godly man," Dana said. "He took care of Seven months after her husband's death, Dana is still struggling to pick up the pieces. "It's difficult to take on something by yourself when you've been doing it together for a while," she said.

In October 2012, David volunteered for a deployment to Afghanistan as an air advisor. "He wanted to get in the fight," Dana said. "Not that he was looking for a fight, but that he wanted to serve, to do the mission."

At the time, Dana had jokingly threatened to volunteer as well until orders came down for her own deployment. They were both serving in Afghanistan at the time of his death; their last day together was Christmas Day at Bagram Airfield, Afghanistan.

As Dana reflected on David's latest achievement of having a ship

Capt. Dana Lyon, widow of Capt. David Lyon, prepares to break a champagne bottle on the hull of the Motor Vessel Capt. David Lyon during a christening and ship visit, Aug. 11 at Military Ocean Terminal Sunny Point, Southport, N.C.

TECH. SGT. JASON ROBERTSON

renamed for him, she described it as an honor she never wanted but is grateful to have.

"I think it's awesome that it's a logistics ship, and Dave was a logistics officer," she said. However, she pointed to a deeper connec- of munitions, or as much as 78 fully tion as her source of solace during this difficult time. "He cast ripples," she said. "His spirit and leadership inspired so many, just as the ship that bears his name will continue to make ripples."

On Aug. 11, 2014, Dana and her family, alongside Jeannie and Robert Lyon, were at MOTSU to christen and tour the vessel before it departed to perform its wartime mission. Seeing it for the first time, the pride they feel is tempered by the lingering immediacy of their bereavement.

Dana, a world-class javelin thrower and 2008 Olympic-hopeful, launched a bottle of champagne and it smashed against the hull, a thunderous cheer erupted from family members and onlookers alike, and the somber mood was instantly transformed to one of celebration.

The newly christened Motor Vessel Capt. David I. Lyon is an Air Force prepositioning vessel, which will transport 12.5 million pounds loaded C-17 Globemaster III aircraft, overseas to support the warfighter.

"It's kind of like he's come full circle," Dana said. "Dave never got a chance to work supply, and now, a supply ship is named after him. Even though he is gone, his life, his purpose, his mission will continue."

Editor's note: Capt. David Lyon, a logistics officer from Peterson Air Force Base, Colorado, was killed in Afghanistan, Dec. 27, 2013.

Air Force officials honored Lyon by naming the service's newest pre-positioning vessel after him. Secretary of the Air Force Deborah Lee James and Secretary of the Navy Ray Mabus conducted the official naming ceremony of Motor Vessel Capt. David I. Lyon Wednesday, at the Pentagon.

Academy Airmen, cadets can 'hangout' with CSAF today

Air Force News Service

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md. (AFNS) -Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Mark A. Welsh III and his wife, Betty, will host a Google Hangout, open forum, on the Air Force's Google+ page noon today.

The Google Hangout will give Airmen and their family members from six bases a chance to join the Welshes for a discussion about today's Gen. Mark A. Welsh III Air Force. However, the discussion will be open for anyone to watch.

The open forum will give Airmen and their families an opportunity to address concerns they have about Air Force policies or recent changes. Welsh will also discuss the future of the Air Force, and Air Force training programs, his priorities and more.

The installations participating in the Hangout include Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland, Texas; U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado; F.E. Warren Air Force Base, Wyoming; Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson, Alaska; Ramstein Air Base, Germany and Al Udeid Air Base, Qatar.

Change of command

Col. Robert Rottschafer, the 10th Medical Group deputy commander (right) and Lt. Col. Thomas Stamp, hold the 10th MDG Guidon during the 10th Surgical Operations Squadron change of command ceremony here Wednesday. At the ceremony, Rottschafer gave Stamp the Guidon, officially symbolizing Stamp has taken over command of the 10th MSGS from Col. Jon Shereck.

Delivering:

Leading Journalism

Become a member of The Gazette and connect to a Pulitzer Prize winning team. With nearly 70 journalists working to deliver in-depth local coverage around the clock, this is where the local news starts first.

The Gazette content crosses platforms, from print to online to mobile. With membership, you get full unlimited access to all these plus inclusion into our exclusive GAZETTE INSIDER CLUB.

Become a member today at gazette.com/member

CLUES ACROSS

1. Contradicted 7. The Donald's Marla

13. Mediterranean sandstorm

14. Shoulder adornment 16. Earth crust's 5th element

17. Rainbow prize

19. NCIS star's initials

20. Mischa __, violinist 22. Constitution Hall

23. More dried-up 25. First on moon

26. Braid 28. 11% of Guinea population 29. Sea eagle

30. Scottish variant of "to"

CLUES DOWN

1. One who operates

a dial

2. Trauma center Prickly pear pads

4. Fashion superstar Shock treatment

6 Mindless drawing

7. AKA migraine

8. Military mailbox

Buddies

10. Heavy tranquilizers (slang)

> 6 9 8

7 8

5 7

3

6

11. Raised railroad track

13. Picture

15 Stabs

21. Early American

militiaman 24. Downfall

3

8

essenta de la constanta de la

4

5

9

18. Supervises flying

8

Apress Apress

9

4

26. Cooking vessel

27. Check

30. In a way, manipulated 32. Sacred book of

31. A border for a 40. Clamors picture 41. Eggs cooked until just set

33. Belonging to a thing

34. On top

36. Automobile hood (Brit.) 38. Skewered Thai dish

35. Chum

37. Negating word

39. W. hemisphere

42. Make lacework

43. Witty remark

46. More hairless

Like puzzles?

47. Relating to a nerve continents

38 Relating to the body

44. 13th Hebrew letter

river city 45. Short poking stroke

53. Music term for

theater

48. 007's creator

silence

55. A crane

47. Japanese classical

51. Romanian Mures

56. Ringworm 58. Romanian money

59. True frog

60. Integrated circuit

61. "Highway Patrol's"

Crawford

64. Point midway between S and E

65. On a whim

67. Protagonist

69. Quantity with only

magnitude

70. Oversights

49. Originates

50. Consumer advocate Ralph

52. Actress Winger

54. Center for Excellence in Education (abbr.)

55. Japanese brews

57. Fleshy seed covering 59. Canadian law

enforcers

So. Am. wood sorrel

63. Actress Lupino

66. Personal computer

68. Do over prefix

Fun By The Numbers

Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so shapren your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier to gets to solve the puzzle!

Solution on page 11

1-16-15

Fly like an eagle

Cadet's dedication to skydiving earns him gold medals

By Amber Baillie U.S. Air Force Academy Public Affairs

Ever since Cadet 2nd Class Joseph Gerner first parachuted in 2010, he travels to Eloy, Ariz., every holiday break and family vacation to tighten his skills in the sky.

After countless jumps and hours of training with coaches from Axis Flight School, the cadet received his first gold medal at the 2012 National Collegiate Parachuting Championships in the Intermediate Sport Accuracy category. In 2013, he and his brother, Andre Gerner, "team EagleBear," struck gold in the Two-Way Sit-Fly competition in Lake Wales, Fla., and scored first place in the 2014 NCPC Two-way Vertical Formation Skydiving team

Cadet Gerner said the real joy of parachuting comes from those rare jumps where everything clicks, all jumpers are of the same mind and the result is something artistic.

"I love the sense of freedom skydiving provides because it's airmanship in the purest sense," he said. "The air is a powerful force. Fight it, and it always beats you. Surrender to it, and you accomplish little. But submit to it and work with it, you can create art."

The Gerner brothers first competed under the team name EagleBear at the U.S. Parachute Association NCPC in 2011. At the time, Cadet Gerner attended Embry Riddle Aeronautical University while Andre Gerber attended UCLA. Their team name was derived from a hybrid of their respective schools' mascots.

"Although I now represent the Academy when I compete at the NCPC, we have since retained the original name for continuity," Cadet Gerner said.

The cadet's devotion to skydiving runs in the family; his dad, Andre (Class of '81), is team manager of EagleBear and began parachuting at the Academy.

"It's been an interesting ride," said the cadet's father. "EagleBear had the sole distinction of being the only competitors of the 2014 NCPC to set new U.S. National and Arizona state collegiate records."

Cadet Gerner was hooked after his first jump in November 2010, completing his first six jumps of a 25jump USPA-license at the Adventures in Skydiving

"My brother and I finished our 25th jump and were awarded our licenses in December (2010)," he said.

Cadet Gerner said he had interest in being a part of the Academy's parachute team, the Wings of Blue, but was unable to take Airmanship 490 in time, a pre-requisite to apply for the team.

"Bar none, the Wings of Blue are the best resourced and capitalized collegiate parachute team in the world, and are passionate about making the most of it," he said. "In many respects though, I feel as though this opened more opportunities than it closed, as I have had the opportunity to work with some amazing jumpers in the civilian world, and preserve the family dynamic this all began with."

COURTESY PHOTOS

According to the cadet, EagleBear trains regularly in Fremont, Colo., and the iFly-Denver tunnel. At competitions, EagleBear set new state and national skydiving records. Now, the team has their sights on competing in the USPA Nationals.

The cadet said they trained intensely for nationals last year but were forced to withdraw from the competition due to bad weather.

"The USPA Nationals differ from the USPA NCPC, in that while the NCPC is restricted to full-time college students and conducted over Christmas break, nationals are held earlier in the year and are open to all skydivers who are U.S. citizens and attract the best skydivers and professional teams in the country," Cadet Gerner said. "I am once again hopeful for an opportunity to represent the Academy and compete in Advanced Two-Way VFS as a senior at the 2015 USPA Nationals at Eloy, Ariz., in October."

TOP AND LEFT: Team EagleBear is seen here in the 20th point of their national record-setting skydive. The Two-Way Vertical Formation Skydiving team consists of brothers, Andre Gerner, a masters animation student at UCLA, and Cadet 2nd Class Joseph Gerner (in red), an aeronautical engineering major at the Academy.

Win a: Full Day Spa Package for Four!

Includes: Swedish Massage, Custom Facial, Matéos Pedicure, Manicure, Aroma Steam Treatment and Spa Lunch. (Value $892)

Enter today to win at gazette.com/insider

More Chances to Win!

An Autographed Poster of Bronco Legend Randy Gradishar:

5 winners will be selected!

Blue Man Group Tickets:

4 Tickets to Blue Man Group

Show: February 3 at 7:30 pm | Pikes Peak Center

Tickets to the Theatre:

A pair of tickets to see Detroit at THEATREWORKS (value $70)

Show Dates: January 22 – February 8

5 winners will be selected!

See gazette.com/insider for complete contest rules.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 2015 | ACADEMY SPIRIT

RIGHT: The Keystone Adaptive Center works with the Adaptive Adventure Program to give wounded warriors an opportunity to participate

BELOW LEFT: SnoFest racers from the Academy slide down the cardboard derby race course

BELOW RIGHT: Racers compete in the individual ski races.

QUICK LOOK

- For lodging rates, visit www.mysnofest.com
- For reservations call 1-800-258-0437, and give the group code "GC8PTC" and base affiliation
- Purchase lift tickets at the Community Center Outdoor Rec Center. Adults are $64, Academy cadets, Prep School cadet candidates and airmen through senior airmen are $54. Children

U.S. Air Force Academy Public Affairs

kiers, boarders and snow enthusiasts from military bases along the Front Range will hit the slopes Jan. 23- 25 for SnoFest at Keystone Resort, Colo.

Now in it's 26th year, SnoFest is an annual ski weekend that offers events and activities geared for military families, retirees, Defense Department civilians and contractors.

Racers in the cardboard derby can put their engineering skills to the test in a cardboard sled race and ski and snowboard races for all skill levels can earn the commander's cup.

Themed parties with kids' activities, dog sled rides and tubing runs, are part of the SnoFest activities.

Wounded warriors can partcipate thanks to the Keystone Adaptive Center. More than 20 sponsors provide donations to make SnoFest possible.

Spirit Award

From Page 1

scholar for the upcoming academic year.

"I didn't expect the award at all," said Esselstein, also offered a Marshall scholarship. "I'm honored. Lt. Gen. Michelle D. Johnson, the Academy Superintendent, already presented me at the staff tower for getting the scholarship, so I wasn't expecting anything else. To get the Spirit of the Springs award is like being accepted by Colorado."

Mayor Steve Bach said Esselstein was more than justified in being given this award, created when he took office in 2011.

"As one of only 32 students receiving Rhodes scholarships in the upcoming year, I thought Cadet Esselstein was very deserving," he said. "She's one of only 38 Academy cadets to ever receive the award. On top of that, she's leading her class academically, militarily and she's an athlete. It doesn't get much better than that. We're very proud of her, as well as her teachers and mentors."

Esselstein never dreamed of receiving the Spirit of the Springs award, and didn't begin to dream of the Rhodes scholarship until February 2014.

"They started having meetings for Marshall and Rhodes scholarships, and people asked me why I wasn't going to them," said Esselstein, who has secured a pilot slot at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, once her time at Oxford University ends. "I thought I wasn't the kind of person they were looking for because I'm an astrophysics major. When you think of Rhodes scholars, you think of people who are going to save the world. I didn't know if I should even bother, but I decided to start going to meetings. I knew it was a long shot, but I thought, why not try?"

Early in the process of preparing to apply, sought out the director of the Academy Scholars Program, Dr. Derek Varble.

"Dr. Varble helped people through this process many times, so he's obviously experienced," she said. "He's supported me in everything, and showed me opportunities I didn't know were there."

Esselstein said Varble helped her become involved in projects that made her stand out during the application process.

"I took Physics 490 this past semester, which was an exoplanet research class," she said. "It ended up being key to my application. I would have never gotten into that class if Dr. Varble hadn't suggested I take it. I owe a lot to him."

While Esselstein said the application process was somewhat painstaking, she said the personal statement was her biggest challenge.

JASON GUTIERREZ

interested cadets were told to seek mentors. Colorado Springs Mayor Steve Bach presents Cadet 1st Class Rebecca Esselstein with the Springs Award to guide them through the process. Esselstein at the Staff Tower Wednesday. The award recognizes her achievements at the Academy and her selection for a Rhodes scholarship.

"I started that over four times," she said. "I would have something written, then we'd hear from a member of the Marshall or Rhodes board and they'd give us tips. I'd start from scratch all over again."

Despite the frustration of beginning again and again, Esselstein said she thinks the application process is a positive one for cadets, even if they don't end up with the scholarship.

"If you don't get it, it's disappointing - especially because of how much work is involved," she said. "But when you have to cram your life into a thousand words for a personal statement, you really learn what makes you, you."

While Esselstein said she was initially hesitant to begin the application process, she never thought of stopping.

"I thought it was a long shot, but I don't like closing doors on opportunities. And I couldn't be more thrilled. Studying in the UK is such a great opportunity to learn about our greatest ally, and even though it's still a western country, you still get to explore a new culture. Oxford is a very diverse university that challenges you to think all the time. That opportunity is invaluable to an officer."

Esselstein hopes her example will encourage other cadets to apply when they might otherwise have not.

"Just keep it up and don't stop trying," she advised. "You never know what you're going to get out of it. Even a long shot is still a shot.'

stand the value of respect," he said to cadets. "When we fall short of our core values, we let ourselves, our team mates, this institution and the Air Force, down. We don't operate in a vacuum – our actions affect everyone."

While discussing service before self, Williams challenged cadets to always step into leadership positions when the time comes.

"Sometimes, we have folks willing to put in time and effort to fill leadership roles, but they lack the support of other cadets," he said. "This doesn't help. It's really easy to throw spears at people in leadership roles and criticize their work, but if we're unwilling to step up and take some of those positions, we're not helping the team. We value feedback and constructive criticism, but at the same time, there's and follow."

Williams also discussed the importance of cadet community service. Cadets volunteered more than 40,000 hours of their time last year to support their community, he said.

"We're working hard to connect the dots between community service, the beneficiaries of that service time, and communicating to our community the great things we're doing," he said. "When people hear about the Academy, they'll know we're doing great things."

With regards to excellence in all we do, Williams said the biggest point to emphasize is performing excellently even when it doesn't directly benefit oneself.

"We need to realize we're not just doing things for ourselves, but for those next to us, too," he said.

so many things when we under- a point where we have to support "When we go into combat, we people. We don't sleep with a book need to know we're fighting for our whole organization, not just ourselves. A lot of people think, 'How does this affect me?', and that's not the concern of the commander. The concern of the commander is, 'How does this affect the organization?' We have to understand that sometimes, things that aren't good individually are better for the organization. The sooner we recognize this, the better."

Williams emphasized General Johnson's point to the Class of 2015 and 2016 earlier that day.

"The superintendent emphasized that we don't just wake up one morning a leader — we have to continually practice to become a leader," he said. "We have to take advantage of the incredible opportunities presented here to be good leaders and take care of our under our pillow and wake up with all of it internalized. We internalize leadership skills by doing, practicing and experiencing."

Lastly, Williams challenged cadets to seize opportunities presented to them at the Academy and in the Air Force at large.

"The Air Force provides us all opportunities, but what we do with those opportunities is our responsibility," he said to cadets. "How you use these opportunities defines how you do after you graduate. As second lieutenants, you will be presented with more opportunities. If you do well, the Air Force will give you more opportunities. We don't owe you success, but do we owe you the opportunity to succeed."

To see the report on General Johnson's Superintendent's Call, visit www.usafa.af.mil.

BESTOF THE SPRINGS 2015

Give a little love to your favorite restaurant, charity, sandwich and hair salon. Vote now in categories that affect your everyday life and help us determine "The Best" in Colorado Springs.

Need an extra incentive?

Vote in at least 10 categories and leave at least one comment and you are entered to WIN $500 in gift certificates to the Best of the Springs Winners of your choice.

To see a full list of categories and to vote visit gazette.com/bestof.

Be on the lookout Sunday, April 19th for the 21st annual edition of Best of the Springs.

gazette.com/bestof

HOCKEY

Air Force sweeps Niagara

PHOTOS BY MIKE KAPLAN

Athletic Communications

Cole Gunner scored two goals late in the game to help lift Air Force to a 4-3 overtime win in an Atlantic Hockey Conference game Saturday at the Cadet Ice Arena.

Gunner tied the game with 3:18 left in the third and netted the game-winner at 2:16 of

Air Force earned its first series sweep since taking two from Mercyhurst, Feb. 7-8, 2014.

The Falcons jumped into a tie for sixth place in the conference, 7-13-3 overall and 6-6-2 in the league. Niagara fell to 3-15-2 overall and 3-11-2 in the AHC.

With the win, Air Force head coach Frank Serratore earned his 300th victory at the Academy. He becomes just the 12th active coach in the NCAA to win 300 or more hockey games at his current institution.

Niagara opened the scoring at 3:25 of the first period when Luke Edwards cashed in after an Air Force turnover in its own end. Late in the period, the Purple Eagles took a 2-0 lead on the power play. After a center ice faceoff, three Falcons tied in a scrum at center ice and Niagara had a 2-on-1. Albin Karlsson fed Stanislav Dzakhov at 16:35 for a two-goal lead.

Air Force bounced back with two goals in the second period to tie the game. Both goals came in a span of three minutes as the Colorado kids combined for the first goal.

Ben Carey put the Falcons on the board at the 1:42 mark with a slap shot from the right side. Max Hartner took a saved shot and Dylan Abood fed Carey in the right circle for his second of the season. The Falcons tied the game at the 4:41 mark on defenseman Johnny Hrabovsky's first of the season. Jonathan Kopacka started the rush and Scott Holm made a perfect cross-ice pass right on Hrabovsky's tape in the left circle.

In the third period, Niagara regained the lead when Lawrence Smith fired a slap shot from the center point at the 11:33 mark. After the Falcons killed a penalty, Air Force's top line tied the game. Dan Weissenhofer took a shot that was deflected in front. Holm tipped it to Gunner who tied the game with 3:18 remaining.

Thirteen seconds into overtime, Holm took the puck to the front of the net and in the flurry, the puck went into the net. However, the goal was disallowed as the net the first period, getting in a 2-0 hole," Serrarocked from its moorings and the puck went under the post. Later in the period, on the rush, Demers took a shot that was saved and Holm sent it down low to Gunner. Below the goal line, Gunner's centering pass hit the skate of a Niagara player and went in at 2:16 of overtime.

Air Force outshot Niagara, 37-15, in the game. The Falcons were 0-for-5 on the power play while Niagara was 1-for-4. Chris Truehl made 12 saves for the Falcons while Jackson Teichroeb made 33 for the Purple Eagles.

In 122 minutes of hockey in the series, Air Force led for just 3:30 and came away with four points. The only lead of the game came in overtime when Gunner netted the gamewinner.

"We had to overcome some adversity in tore said. "They were all over us in the first period. But a credit to our guys, they didn't quit. They kept battling the entire game. We are going to have to get a lot better. We can't keep falling behind in games. Thanks to the Academy for allowing me to be here long enough to win that many games. You don't win without great players and great assistant coaches and I have been very fortunate."

Air Force's four-game home stand continues with a two-game series against conference and service academy rival Army, today and Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Cadet Ice Arena.

Goalie Chris Truehl (right) made 12 saves for the Falcons Saturday.

WRESTLING

Air Force Wrestling dominates at Borah Duals

MIKE KAPLAN

Air Force wrestler Josh Martinez (top) goes for the pin in a match earlier this season. Martinez is ranked ninth in the nation at 125 pounds.

Josh Martinez receives outstanding wrestler honors

Athletic Communications

GUNNISON, Colo. — Air Force wrestling had its best outing of the season, sweeping head-to-head competition at the 25th annual Tracy Borah Duals at Western State Colorado University Saturday.

Air Force improved to 3-2 on the season with wins over CSU-Pueblo, Western State and Cal Baptist. The Falcons defeated CSU-Pueblo 48-0, Western State 33-7 and Cal Baptist 35-7.

Martinez, ranked ninth in the nation (InterMat) at 125 pounds, earned outstanding wrestler honors by going undefeated and not allowing a single point over three bouts. The junior opened the day with a win by technical fall (15-0) over Aaron Carrera of CSU-Pueblo and then a fall (2:55) over Trenton Piatt of Western State in the second bout. The Colorado Springs native capped the day with major decision (12-0) over Christian Betancourt of Cal Baptist.

At 133 pounds, senior Carter McElhany went 1-1 on the day. At 141 pounds, the trio of Conor O'Hara (major vs. CSU-Pueblo), Anthony McHugh (dec., SV-1, 3-1 over Western State), David Walker (Dec.) swept the competition.

Sophomore Gerry McGinty went

3-0 on the day at 149 pounds. Mc-Ginty won an 8-2 decision over Jake Messink of CSU-Pueblo, a 7-3 decision over Devon Zavala of Wester State and won by forfeit against Cal Baptist.

At 157 pounds, Sam Kreimier went 2-1. Kreimier earned a fall and decision.

Senior Jesse Stafford, ranked 19th in the nation (InterMat) and freshman Michael Billingsley combined to sweep the competition at 165 pounds. Billingsley earned a major over Jakob Lund of CSU-Pueblo. Stafford, who returned to competition after missing several events due to injury, earned back-to-back falls vs. Western State and Cal Baptist.

At 174 pounds, Scott Reilly and Konner Witt went 3-0. Reilly earned a fall (0:35) over CSU-Pueblo's Steven Ullman and earned a fall vs. Western State and a decision over Cal Baptist.

Zen Ikehara and Reilly, moving up to 184 for a bout, combined to go 1-2. Ikehara earned a tech fall over CSU-Pueblo and dropped a match to Cal Baptist. Reilly was downed by Kyle Piatt of Western State.

Senior Jack Carda and Marcus Malecek swept their three bouts at 197 pounds and HWT, respectively. Carda earned a fall, sudden victory and decision in his three bouts. Malecek earned a TB-1, decision and major decision in his three wins.

Air Force returns to action next weekend with road duals at Cal Poly and Stanford.

FENCING

Hofilena is Academy's top-finishing fencer

Athletic Communications

Air Force fencers competed in the North American Cup Division 1 and Junior Championships in Salt Lake City Friday and Saturday, the first competition of the New Year for the cadets.

The top Falcon in the NAC was Alyssa Hofilena, who finished 11th among 97 women's saber fencers, Saturday. She advanced to the direct elimination rounds on a 4-1 pool record and later to the top 16 on a BYE, 15-11 and 15-10 victories. Hofilena lost to Gillian Litysnki in round 16, 7-15.

Alyssa Hofilena

Competing in the Division 1 Men's Foil Friday were Alexander Chiang and Nicholas Pollack. Chiang, who was undefeated in the pools (6-0), placed 36th among the 160 competitors. Chiang advanced to the top 64 on 15-10 bout win, but did not advance further after losing to his next opponent, 11-15. Pollack lost his bout 4-15 in the top 128 and tied for 111th. Ryan Andrieux was the Falcons' only Junior Men's Saber competitor, he finished the tournament tied for 123rd place.

Elias Johnson, Nathan Lee and James Salem competed in Division 1 Men's Epee Saturday. Lee placed 34th among 253 competitors. Salem tied for 100th place and Johnson placed 171st.

In the Women's Foil tournament Saturday, Nichole Quattrociocchi failed to advance to the DE rounds and tied for 97th place.

jackquinnspub.com

Tajine Alami

Call 719-685-1119

for Reservations

Serving

4 and 6

Course Feasts

Nightly

RIFLE

Carpentier ranks 5th, Ricois 10th in rifle-selection match

Athletic Communications

More than 40 rifle athletes kicked off the New Year at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs to vie for World Cup slots at the Rifle Selection Match Jan. 5-10.

Air Force senior Mer- Meredith Carpentier edith Carpentier ranked fifth overall in the 50 mm Three-Position Rifle after two days of matches in the January Rifle Selection Match at the center.

In the first day of shooting in the women's 50 mm Three-Position Rifle match, Carpentier finished with a 591 total. Her scores were 99, 97, 99, 100, 92, and 96 (583). She earned eight points toward her final score, qualifying for the finals where she shot a 453.7, the highest finals' score of the match.

On day two, Carpentier scored a 581 and again qualified for finals, scoring 394.4 in finals and earning a point toward her overall aggregate score. After two days of finals, she placed fifth overall with an aggregate score of 1173.

Earlier in the week, David Higgins from the Air Force squad competed in the 50 mm Prone Rifle matches. He finished with an aggregate total of 1237.3. On Day 1, Higgins scored a 618.3 and added a 619.0 on day 2 for a total score of 1237.3. He finished ranked 15th.

www.maycos.com

Reach 8,000 Diners

Every Friday!

Call Marie

at 719-476-4818

for Details

Tyler Rico

On Friday and Saturday, Tyler Rico and Higgins competed in the 50 mm Three-Position Rifle matches. Rico finished the Selections' match ranked 10th after two days of shooting.

On day one, he finished with 1164 and scored 394 in the finals, earning him one point toward his two-day overall total. The next day, he tallied 1151 points to finish with an aggregate score of 2316.

Higgins finished ranked 21st and tallied a two-day aggregate of 2280 points. His two-day scores were 1147 and 1133, respectively.

This selection match will determine the Three-Position and Prone Rifle competitors for the International Shooting Sports Federation World Cup in Changwon, Korea, April 8-16, as well as serve as part one of the selection process for the smallbore rifle teams at the World Cups in Fort Benning, Ga., and Munich, Germany in May

The rifle team travels to Fort Worth, Texas, Saturday and Sunday to compete against TCU and the Coast Guard.

Best equipment, pricing,

and pro shop

BAMBOO COURT

RESTAURANT

719-599-7383

4935 Centennial Blvd. Ste. G

Open 7 Days for Lunch & Dinner Delicious Combination Plates.

We Make Your Expectations

A Reality!

Religious events

Christian: Baptism of Jesus, Sunday - Commemoration of Jesus' baptism and the beginning of his public ministry. Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Sunday through Jan. 25 This observance is marked with prayer for the restoration of unity among the churches of faith. Conversion of Saint Paul, Jan 25 – The observance of Saint Paul's vision of Jesus while on his way to persecute Christians.. This event will be observed at worship services.

Bahai: World Religion Day, Sunday – The Baha'i community dedicates this day to the unity and oneness of world religions.

Ethiopian Orthodox Christian: Timkat, Monday– The Ethiopian Orthodox Christian Epiphany celebration of the Baptism of Jesus in the Jordan River.

Hindu: Makar Sankrant, Wednesday – Makar Sankrant is one of the most important festivals of the Hindu calendar and celebrates the sun's journey into the northern hemisphere. Hindus often observe this celebration by flying kites, feeding the poor and offering libations to the dead. Vasant Panchami, Jan. 24 – This Hindu celebration dedicated to Saraswati, the goddess of learning.

Cadet Chapel

BUDDHIST

Service: Sunday, 10 a.m. Meditation: Thursday, 6:20 p.m.

PROTESTANT

Traditional, Sunday, 9:30 a.m. Contemporary, Sunday, 11 a.m.

CATHOLIC

Mass: Sunday, 10 a.m. Daily Mass: Mon. - Thurs.,5:30 p.m. Confession: Sunday, 9 a.m. Adoration Confession, Wednesday, 4:30-5:20 p.m.

JEWISH

Shabbat, 7 pm., Kiddush dinner, 7:45 p.m.

MUSLIM

Jumah Prayers, Friday, 12:30 p.m.

Community Center Chapel

CATHOLIC WORSHIP

Mass: Saturday, 4 p.m., Sunday, 9 a.m. Tuesday - Friday, 11:30 a.m.

Reconciliation: Saturday, 3 p.m. Formation Classes: For students in grades K-8. Sunday, 10:15-11:30 a.m., September-May.

PROTESTANT WORSHIP SERVICE

Sunday, 10:30 a.m.

Religious Education: Sunday, 9 a.m., preschool through adults.

Jewish: Tu B'shvat, Thursday, February 4 — Tu B'Shevat is an agricultural holiday centered around trees. It is known as the "birthday of the trees," since the trees in Israel bloom at this time. It's traditional to plant a tree during this holiday. A popular celebration consists of a roundtable worship service, called a "Tu B'shvat seder," providing symbolic food and drink items.

Academy family days

The Academy superintendent has approved the following days as Academy family days: May 26, July 2, Nov. 27, Dec. 24 and Dec. 31.

Holocaust Remembrance volunteers

Academy personnel interested in volunteering as a Holocaust Days of Remembrance committee member can call 333-5661 or attend a committee meeting 3 p.m., Jan. 28 in the Community Center Chapel Community

North Gate Boulevard construction

Due to an ongoing construction project to repair both bridges on North Gate Boulevard near Stadium Boulevard, traffic will not be allowed to exit the North Gate 6-7:30 p.m. today and Saturday; 6:30-8 p.m. Tuesday; and 11 a.m-12:30 p.m. Jan. 24.

Access to medical care in weather events

The clinics and hospitals at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Peterson Air Force Base and Fort Carson are part of the Colorado Springs Medical Health System, referred to as the market.

From a centralized location at the health systems' offices, the Patient Appointing Services call center books appointments and handles calls for more than 172,000 beneficiaries through the market's 524-CARE line.

The call center operates under adverse or inclement weather conditions. In the event of a medical facility or base closure, callcenter personnel will contact patients to cancel and reschedule appointments. If the call center closes, a message on the appointment line will provide instructions on how to make an appointment or contact a provider. Patients should call the appointment line during bad weather to confirm if a facility is open to avoid an unnecessary trip.

If a medical facility in the market closes due to weather conditions or otherwise, patients can speak with a nurse from the national Nurse Advice Line by calling 524-CARE, option 2, or with the on-call provider using option 4.

MLK observance volunteers needed

The 10th Air Base Wing Martin Luther King Jr. Special Observance Committee needs volunteers 8 a.m.-noon, Monday, at the Winter Warming Shelter, at 505 S. Weber Street.

Volunteers need to be 13 or older.

Call 333-5171 for more information.

10th FSS events

SnoFest: Jan. 23-25. Lodging: Visit www. mysnofest.com for lodging rates. Call 1-800-258-0437 to make a reservation. Give the group code "GC8PTC" and base affiliation for your Snofest rate. Lift tickets: Purchase discounted lift tickets at the Community Center Outdoor Rec Center. Adults are $64, Academy cadets, Prep School cadet candidates and airmen through senior airmen are $54. Children five through 12 are $40.

Air Force Worldwide Bowling: Children can win a bowling ball and bowling bag by bringing family and friends to bowl.

Visit www.usafbowltowin.com for informa-

Free youth clubs: Academy children can join various youth clubs to gain leadership and service experience. The Torch Club is for children 9-13 and meets Wednesdays, 4 p.m.; The Keystone Club is for teenagers 14-18 and meets Wednesdays, 4 p.m.

Youth Employment Skills: This program teaches high school students who are active duty dependents work skills.

Enrolled high school students can bank volunteer dollar credits toward their post-secondary education or training at $4 an hour. Volunteer work must be on base. Students may accumulate up to 250 hours or $1,000 during four years of high school.

Instagram

photo of the week

User @Af_academy shared this Instagram of the Cadet Chapel on a frosty morning at the Academy. We look forward to highlighting your Instagram photos in upcoming editions of the Academy Spirit. If you would like to have a photo published, upload it to Instagram using #YourAcademy.

@AF_ACADEMY

Rentals

WOODMOOR, TRUE COLORADO HOME! 3br/2.5ba, 3451 sf HOME! 3br/2.5ba, 3451 s (WOW!) Updated, views, trees must see! $1900/m, 481-8129

PINE CLIFF: House for Rent. Backs to Ute Valley Park! 5-bed-room, 4-bath, 2-car garage $2300. Call 303-947-0390

BUICK 2006 LUCERNE 72K, well maintained, runs $7250 719-481-3142

Buick Lucerne 2007. Great transportation at half the price. (719) 339-7026

FORD FUSION 2007 one owner car, 38k miles, must see. $10,000 719-475-0256

Honda ACCORD 2007 - Silver, 4 dr, 116K miles, Air conditioning, sun roof, cruise control, front wheel drive, air bags, anti-lock brakes, power locks, power windows, compact disk player,
rear defrost, alarm system,
automatic, V-6 $7500
(719)338-2174

To place your ad call:

719-444-SELL

TRANSPORTATION

Semi-

Vehicles

PLACE YOUR AD TODAY!

Call: 444-SELL 719-636-0122 Fax:

mary.heifner@gazette.com Email: Mail: Classifieds, 30 E. Pikes Peak Ave.

Ste 100, CS, CO 80903

Deadline: Tuesdays at 5 p.m.

Rates vary contact us for details.

REE ADS FOR ACTIVE DUTY OR RETIRED AIR FORCE ACADEMY PERSONNEL!

Name:
Address:
City:		State:	Zip:
Phone:	Grade:		Unit:
Signature:
My signature certifies that this advertise			rty as a convenience to me or my de	pendents. It is no part of a business enterprise, nor does it benefit anyone involved in a business enterprise. Any real estate advertised is made available without regard to race, color, religious origin or sex of any individual

Free ads in accordance with military regulations must be non-commercial and for personal property offered by active-duty and retired military personnel and their families working, living or relocating to the Air Force Academy without regard to race, creed, color, age, sex or religious origin. FREE ADS are limited to one ad per household at 30 words max. The editor and publisher reserve the right to edit ads, and/or not publish ads. NO DUTY PHONE NUMBERS WILL BE PRINTED.

Ad Category:															 _
Г

EL POMAR FOUNDATION

Merchandise

WANTING TO BUY small compact wood burning stove or heater. Please call: 719-598-2649

Services & nnouncements

Printer Repair LaserPro II now JetEx 17 N. Circle Drive (719)578-5533

Publisher's Notice

Please check your ad the first day it appears and notify The Gazette immediately of any errors. The Gazette is only liable for the first insertion, and cannot be held liable for any amount greater than the value of the ad.

We reserve the right to edit or refuse any advertise-ment based on the Publisher's discretion.

Employment

EDUCATION

Program Coordinator
Upward Bound
Program:
Encourages/motivates/assists disadvantaged students to graduate high school and enroll into college. Min. BA degree,
exp. working with at risk youth,
bilingual a plus, $30K + benefits.
Resume, College transcript and Cover letter by January 21st to:
LNESC, 829 N. Cir. #101 C/S, CO
80909

DIETARY

Springs Behavioral 🕇 Health System, Inc.

PRN Cook/Food Service Worker

SERVICE WORKER
PRN position available for a Cook/Food Service Worker. Requires verification of a HS diploma or equivalent plus 3 years training or experience in large scale or commercial food preparation. Must be able to read/write/speak English.

To apply, please go to the UHS website at www.uhsinc.com. From UHS' website, you would select Employment, then Careers, and then select the opening for which you are interested.

MECHANICAL

Shop Mechanic

apply in person to Avery As-phalt, 7770 Venture St., Colorado Springs 80951

TRANSPORTATION

Bus Drivers & Bus Monitors or School District 8. Apply www.ffc8.org; posting & salary on site; Fountain-Fort Carson SD #8 (719) 382-1300.

MARKETING

RETAIL MERCHANDISER

Colorado Springs Company has a Merchandising Position available.

Must have valid Colorado Drivers License, be able to pass a pre-employment drug & background check and able to lift 50lbs.

Applicants must be customer service oriented. We are willing to train the right individual. Company benefits & compensation of $30,000/year.

Fax Resumes To: (719) 535-0754

HEALTHCARE

CHIEF MEDICAL OFFICER

The CMO provides health care expertise and management oversight for Clinical Services providers within the DOC. Position establishes implements, and directs the internal health care program within all DOC facilities and interacts with the contracted managed health Candidates must have a current Colorado medical license, be board ligible in Family Practice, Internal Medicine, or Eme gency Medicine.

CHIEF OF CLINICAL OPERATIONS

The CCO provides management oversight for Clinical Services for the DOC. The CCO monitors and directs the operations of Clinical Services for all facilities throughout the state of Colorado to include employees. The CCO manages the clinical services operation budget, and develops and implements strategic, operational and business plans Candidates need a bachelor's degree in a professional medical field and six years of experience with a progressively responsible, health care management system. The six years must include at least two years supervising a multi-disciplinary, professional health care staff.

For more details call Katherine Sanguinetti at 719-226-4525. Equal Opportunity Employer

GENERAL

ROUTE/SALES

Colorado Springs Company has a route vending sales position available. Must have valid Colorado Drivers License, be able to pass a pre-employment drug & background check and able to lift 50lbs. Applicants must be customer service oriented. We are willing to train the right individual. Requires some weekend work. Company benefits/compensation from $30,000-$40,000/year.

Fax Resumes To: (719) 535-0754

EDUCATION

FC BOCES is seeking a

PT School Psychologist

Masters Level, Colorado certified preferred. Provide Pre-12 intervention, including assessment, direct and indirect special education services in rural school settings. Salary competitive. Excellent benefits.

Certified Application available for download on www.ecboces.org. Questions contact Tracy at (719) 775-2342, ext. 101 or email tracyg@ecboces.org. EOE

SALES ACCOUNT EXECUTIVE Lamar Advertising is looking to hire a Sales Account Executive. The goal is to meet sales objectives by promoting and selling outdoor advertising to qualified advertisers. An AE is expected to use professional sales techniques, build relationships, and develop longterm advertising relationships that grow Lamar Advertising sales. Lamar is an EOE/AA: Minorities/Females/Disabled/Protected Veterans or any other state or federally protected characteristic Additional Information and Application Online: ApplyNow.lamar.com

SALES MANAGER

Phil Long Ford located in the heart of Colorado Springs is looking for a New Car Sales Manager to lead a very high volume Ford store. After being in business for over 60 years we are remodeling our facilities to have one of the largest show rooms in Colorado. We are looking for someone who has great CSI, worked in a high volume atmosphere, has at least 3 years of being a Head Sales Manager with Ford experience preferred, but are willing to work with other brands as well. We offer a relocation package, a six figure income and supportive work atmosphere along with great benefits.

Send resume and references to the General Manager Mark Barton at: mbarton@phillong.com

Linen and Uniform Rental Services

Noteded to load, unload and transport linen carts & hampers in semi tractor-trailer to/from CO Springs and Denver. Work safely and efficiently while performing lifting, pulling, pushing, bending, driving and other physical duties. Have good communication skills. Must be a hard worker, good attendance record and team player. Clean MVR. Current & Valid Class A CDL license.

Please apply at: www.alsco.com

SALES ACCOUNT EXECUTIVE

PROFESSIONAL

Garden City Public Schools, located in Southwest Kansas, is accept-ing applications for

Financial Officer

Minimum of a Bachelors Degree in Accounting, CPA preferred, but not required. Prefer recent administrative and/or supervisory fiscal and business management experience. Experience in a school district or other governmental agency preferred, but not required. Highly competitive Salary and Fringe Benefit package provided. Job is available for immediate start date but would consider up to July 1, 2015.

July 1, 2015.

Applications will be accepted on-line at www.gckschools.com
Any questions please contact the Personnel Office at 620-805-7
Garden City Public Schools is an Equal Opportunity Employer

New Today!

Ford F-150 XLT 1995 - 1995 F-150 XLT Camp Edition-2 Gas tanks,Liff Kit,5.0l V8-EFI-2WD H/L & Elec. 4WD H/L Call Derek Isaacs SAFB (719) 721-7104/Cell (719) 651-2771 $4000 OBO (719)721-7104

Call to subscribe: 1-866-632-NEWS

Shuttle

Please help us

Donate online at

FillAnEmptyStocking.org or call 719-476-1673.